

Marge Piccini

Biography

Marge Piccini is a professional speaker, business coach, consultant, co-author of Incredible Business, Expert Advice to Accelerate Your Success, 2010 Thrive Publishing and a member of popular radio talk show host Mary Jones's (Talk of Connecticut) Believe Team of Experts.

As a former award winning sales professional representing a Fortune 100 company, Marge developed and implemented the Profit More and Prospect Less™ sales leadership program with remarkable results. Her success catapulted when she increased her repeat and client-referred business significantly and nearly doubled her income within 24 months. Currently, she group coaches sales professionals and small business owners who struggle with unsteady income to increase their influence so they can profit more and prospect less. In addition, she consults with small to medium sized companies with a desire to increase their bottom line sales results.

Marge's private coaching clients are women who are leaders in their industry, company or community. Most are published authors and all are successful high achievers whose primary goal is to expand their businesses to the mid six figure range and above. Her coaching program helps them to connect more deeply with their life's purpose, align the needs of their ego with the desires of their soul and strategize their business growth.

The bottom line value Marge delivers to everyone she touches is the understanding that we all have the power to create the life we crave.
